A MEDLEY OF PERPLEXING CONTRADICTIONS.

The Emperor Fled—The Downfall of the Napoleonic Dynasty Predicted.

London August 18.—Telegrams from Paris this morning give the following resume of events since Sunday last: On that day the French engaged the Prussians before Metz, and the latter suffered heavy losses. The French then retired on Verdun. On Monday the Emperor was at Gravelotte with 60,000 men. A telegram from Briery, a town fourteen miles northwest of Metz, has the following: An obstinate struggle occurred near Mont La Tour today. It is supposed the engagement was general. Large numbers of the wounded of both are arriving at Briery. Travelers report that a vast body of Prussians has been thrown back upon the Moselle by the Imperial Guard. The Prussian artillery was interchanged between Briery and St. Jean. There subsequently occurred other engagements at Metz and at other places. The French constantly fighting and retreating, continuing every day with severity. On Tuesday the Emperor passed through Verdun reaching Rheims, where he is now. The Paris Press says the report that the Prussians had demanded an armistice in order to bury their dead is fully confirmed, and praises Marshal Bazaine for not acceding to the request. "The pressants must bury the dead, and the army continue its work of annihilating the enemy. The Press also says the French forces are increasing constantly, and the Prussians are decreasing. This hour for complete victory for France is at hand. There is great activity on the fortifications at Metz. Thousands of men are at work putting the defenses in better condition than ever they were. New York, August 18.—The Democrat has the following foreign special: London, August 18.—Advices from Paris state that Emile Olivier, late Prime Minister, and his wife have fled from France to Italy. On their progress through the French territory they met with the most vehement expressions of hatred from the people. At nearly all the stations on his route the deposed Premier, when recognized, was assailed by a storm of boos and yells of hate. Their entire passage through France was attended by those demonstrations of the enraged populace. Prince Napoleon has sent his children to Paragona. The Prince has also removed all his valuables from the Palace Royal in Paris. New York, August 18.—Foreign telegrams have the following: London, August 18.—The London special says there are continual reports of engagements, but they refer obviously to a series of conflicts, which necessarily entailed upon the two contending armies by their vast numbers and by the extent of the lines on which they are moving. The Prussians will doubtless leave Verdun behind them, as they have left Metz. This will be the last of the French fortified places. Russia is beginning to press the English government for an understanding to maintain the balance of power. There are rumors of agitation among the Germans of the Baltic on account of Russia, and of the mobilization of the Russian army for the Prussian frontier. Paris, August 18.—La Patrie has the following resume of information received from its private sources: The army of General Bazaine is resting upon one of the strongest places in the world. It occupied near Metz a position which enabled it to check the enemy and gain precious time. The Prussians had decided to turn Metz, but Bazaine knew their intention, and crossed the Moselle in several places at the same time. He was not surprised as has been said, and knew he must soon meet the enemy, and was prepared by crossing the Moselle. The French intended to fall back on Chateau, but the Prussians endeavored to cut the French line. Four times they attacked and were repulsed with great loss. The army of Bazaine continued its march, and may be considered as certain to make a junction with McMahon and Trochu. This result the Prussians have not been able to prevent, and it changes the situation vastly. Bazaine will then be at the head of a larger force than those opposed to him, and when he wishes may assume the offensive. This view of affairs is based on information from the scene of hostilities, dated Tuesday, 16th. A private dispatch, dated Thionville, Monday, 4 p.m., says: The canoning of the Prussians commenced at three o'clock, and lasted yet. Many of the enemy have been placed hors de combat. Prince Napoleon has sent his children and valuables away, against the earnest remonstrance of the Emperor. Paris, August 18.—The following additional details of Tuesday's battle near Doncourt and Bronville are obtained from an official source. Prince Frederick Charles attacked our town, and was firmly met. The corps of General Angrand at Ronville hastened into action, which ceased only with night. The Prussians repeatedly attacked us, and were often repulsed. Toward night a fresh corps sought to turn our position, but was beaten off. Our losses are serious. General Bataille is wounded. By 8 o'clock in the evening the enemy was repulsed along the entire line. He had 120,000 men engaged. Algeria proposes to send 50,000 reinforcements to France. General Serran has taken the place of Major-General Lebrun, who has resigned. The Journal de Paris prints an absurd story that the King of Prussia is designing to be crowned Emperor of Germany by the Pope, and has offered his helmet as a new coronation. London, Aug. 18.—Midnight.—We have it on high authority from Paris, that the universal conviction there is that the Napoleonic dynasty is ended. The Emperor has been packed up and dispatched all her valuables including pictures of inestimable price has left for England via Belgium. It is believed that the Emperor is also on his way to this country on the same tracks. He does not return to Paris. Prince Napoleon has fled to Italy with his family. M. Thiers told the Corps Legislatif yesterday that the enemy must be resisted at all cost to the last. He advised prompt action. The surrounding population should be obliged to bring their cattle, corn and food within the walls, and then the entire region in sight of Paris should be laid waste if necessary. A dispatch from King William, dated Ponto Mousson, August 17, says: In the fight here yesterday we took two thousand prisoners, seventeen guns and two eagles. The Duke Schadow issued a manifesto imploring all Germans to sustain Prussia. General Schriber has arrived at the King's headquarters at Ponto Mousson, and is received as a special guest. Ponto Mousson, Wednesday evening. General Alvensleben advanced yesterday with the Third corps toward the east side of Metz, on the line of the enemy's reserve towards Verdun. He encountered very severe fighting with the divisions of General De Cam, I. Admiral, and Froissard, and Marshal Canrobert and the Imperial Guard. Gen. Alvensleben was sustained successfully by the Tenth Army Corps and by detachments of the Eighth and Ninth Corps commanded by Prince Frederick Charles. The enemy was driven in upon Metz, in spite of his great superiority of force after a severe combat of twelve hours. The losses on both sides were very heavy, and the Prussian Generals Deising and Wehler were killed, and Generals Pausch and Grunacher were wounded.

Commercial.

THURSDAY EVENING, August 18, 1870. Continued dullness has been the only feature of our market during the present week. Flour, corn and oats have been drooping, and the two former articles close with a decline in prices. There are no quotable changes in other articles, and prices are but little more than nominal, as there is very little doing in any branch of business.

Tobacco.—The regular weekly sales of tobacco were held today, and resulted satisfactorily to all parties concerned. At the Planters' warehouse twenty-four bids were sold as follows: 6 hds sold at $4 25 @ 6 50 6 " " " 6 25 @ 7 25 7 " " " 7 25 @ 8 25 8 " " " 8 25 @ 9 25 9 " " " 9 25 @ 10 25 10 " " " 10 25 @ 11 00

The planters present declare that, taking the season and the condition of the general market into consideration, the above prices are much better than anybody had occasion to expect. The owner of the four hogheads that were stuck off at $10 50 @ 11 00 would gladly have taken $7 50 before the sale.

We invite the special attention of planters to the figures here furnished, and ask them to compare them with the figures made by any other market in the Western country.

Flour.—Has been dull, and to-day concessions were made to induce sales. The trade is principally confined to local buyers and filling orders. The sales comprised: 100 bbls Spring X, delivered $ 4 75 100 " " " on track " 4 70 105 " " " " " " 5 00 110 " " " " " " 5 25 115 " " " " " " 5 50 120 " " " " " " 5 75 125 " " " " " " 6 00 130 " " " "
